

The RetinaVue 100 imager is designed to work exclusively with the RetinaVue Network. Viewing and transferring images acquired by the RetinaVue imager requires a service contract subscription for software & interpretation services with RetinaVue P.C.

As of 11/5/2017: We are offering updated pricing for RetinaVue Service contracts for interpretation services:

- Pricing for the service has changed from a “per click” to a subscription model
- As part of moving to a subscription model, we are offering lower price per exam for interpretation services
- Software only customers only pay the monthly subscription fee
- Subscription model applies to new customers only, for sales effective December 1, 2017
- Existing customers maintain “contract” price, but can switch
 - RetinaVue operations team will contact customers at the end of their contract to review options.

Q: How much does the customer pay to use the network if they are doing their own exam interpretation readings?
